Topic: STEAM Early Childhood Education recognizes that quality programs include: project based learning, hands-on experimentation, and experiences that support natural inquiry. All of these concepts are central to the implementation of a STEM or STEAM curriculum. Topical teaching and learning from the STEAM perspective, challenges children to use everyday items to solve problems in an integrated, developmentally appropriate manner. Our sessions will include a look at design challenges with literacy connections, creating and organizing the STEM area, important STEAM resources and an opportunity to experience STEM in small collaborative groups.
